BRYCE MCKENZIE

Bryce began his career 16 years ago as a designer for Liberty going on to manage design practices in both Glasgow and Edinburgh before opening his own design studio in 2008.

Since then he and his team have worked on bespoke interiors for clients throughout Scotland and abroad in a variety of town and country houses.

Although each commission is tailored to the individual, the signature of detail and understated elegance is apparent in every project, creating balance and depth in a timeless interior.

Bryce's Edinburgh showroom displays many examples of his inimitable style and houses a vast library of fabrics and wallcoverings from leading manufacturers all over the world.
